We understand your concerns about safety and security and want to assure you that we make every effort to safeguard your privacy when you utilize our services.

This Privacy Policy describes the types of information NAAQE may collect from you or that you may provide when you visit our websites or mobile sites (including sub-domains, web pages within this site or any equivalent mirror, replacement, substitute, or backup website), or any other website, mobile site or application that links to this Privacy Policy, accessed via any device, or accessing or using any of our Services (collectively, the “Websites”). “Services” means any of the NAAQE products or services, or any applications, including mobile applications, made available by NAAQE. The definition of Services does not include “Events Now.”

If you have any questions about this Privacy Policy, please do not hesitate to contact us. If you do not agree with any of the terms and conditions in this Privacy Policy, please discontinue using the Websites and our Services.

This Privacy Policy is organized into three sections: (1) “General Provisions,” which apply to everyone using or visiting the Websites; (2) “Special Privacy & Security Provisions for Donors,” which apply only to users who make donations through our Websites; and (3) “Special Privacy & Security Provisions for Nonprofits, Customers, and Potential Customers,” which apply specifically to nonprofits who use or consider using our Services.

1. General Provisions

Security

We take reasonable security precautions to protect the personal information we collect and provide to us. We meet commercially appropriate standards for online payment protection. We use up-to-date industry-accepted tools and technology protocols, including but not limited to firewalls and encryption, to protect against the loss, misuse, and unauthorized alteration of the information we collect. NAAQE helps to protect your information by working with our service providers, who provide a secure and safe environment for credit card donations. Please remember that your information's safety and security also depend on you. Where we have given you (or you have chosen) a logon ID or password to access certain services or areas of the Websites, you are responsible for keeping this ID and/or password confidential. We ask that you not share such information with anyone or allow anyone to sign in using your credentials.

Unfortunately, the transmission of information via the Internet is not completely secure. Although we do our best to protect your personal information, we cannot guarantee the security of your personal information transmitted to us. Any transmission of personal information is at your own risk. We are not responsible for circumventing any privacy settings or security measures we put in place for your protection.

What Information Do We Collect?

As discussed in greater detail below, we collect two types of information: personal information you submit to us voluntarily and information we collect automatically when you use our Websites or Services. “Personal information” is data that can be used to identify or contact a single person uniquely. Personal information we collect may include your name, phone number, mailing address, email address, and payment information, such as the last four digits of your credit card number and expiration date. We outline the data we collect in more detail below. We may also collect information such as your organization’s name, your title within the organization, industry type, 501(c)(3) status, and other business information about the organization. We may collect information from you when you use our Websites, such as when you sign up for a NAAQE, subscribe to our newsletters, register to attend a webinar, or donate.

When you submit payment information to us via the Websites, you consent to provide your payment information, and our service providers process the donation to the extent required to provide our Services. When we collect payment information directly from you, we transmit this payment information directly to our service provider. For donations, we store the last four digits of the card number and the expiration date.

We gather this information to track website visitor movement in the aggregate and broad demographic information for aggregate use. Our goal in gathering this information is to learn how our customers and the public use our Services. IP addresses recorded by our log files are not linked to personal identifiers.

How We Share Your Information

Recipient Charities

When you make a donation via a charity website that subscribes and links to a DonateNow or Fundraising Pages, your full contact information will be shared with that charity. When you make a donation via the Websites, other services, or a partner website that uses our donation processing services, you may be asked what information you wish to be shared with the recipient charity(ies). You may have a choice of: full contact information, name and email address only, or no contact information (an anonymous donation). Partner Companies Employee giving: We provide employee giving solutions for partner companies. When we are processing donations as part of a specific employee giving campaign on the Websites or a page hosted by NFG, we do share some donor information (such as name, email address, donation amount), but not credit card or financial information, with the partner company to confirm that the donation was made by a legitimate employee. In these instances, the partner company has disclosed its relationship to us through its Intranet, website or employee communications prior to the donation being made.

Corporate partners: We partner with other organizations and companies to enable giving across the Internet. Please be aware that donor information shared through a corporate partner site is accessible by the partner and us. We are not responsible for the privacy practices of our partners and any donor information shared through partner sites. Any such information is subject to that partner's privacy policy.

However, when donations are "Powered by NAAQE," the donor information shared with recipient charities is subject to our Privacy Policy.

We may disclose your information to our professional advisers, including accountants, lawyers, and other professional advisers that assist us in carrying out our business activities.

Complying With the Legal System

Though NAAQE makes every effort to preserve donor and customer privacy, we may need to disclose personal information when we have a good-faith belief that such action is necessary to comply with a current judicial proceeding, a court order, or legal process served on our organization. We also may disclose your personal information to third parties if we have reason to believe that disclosing such information is necessary to conduct investigations of possible breaches of law, to cooperate in any legal investigation, or to identify, contact, or bring legal action against someone who may be violating any agreement with us, including our Terms & Conditions.

Disclosure or Transfer of Data to Affiliates or Subsidiaries or in Connection with Organization Change

We may disclose personal information that we collect, or you provide to us with our affiliates or subsidiaries that require access to your personal information for business purposes.

We may disclose personal information that we collect or you provide as described in this Privacy Policy to any buyer or other successor in the event of a merger, divestiture, restructuring, reorganization, dissolution, or other sale or transfer of some or all of our assets, whether as a going concern or as part of bankruptcy, liquidation, or similar proceeding, in which personal information held by us about users of our Websites is among the assets transferred.

In the event that NAAQE is involved in a bankruptcy, merger, acquisition, consolidation, change of control, liquidation, reorganization, or sale or transfer of assets, your information may be sold or transferred as part of that transaction. Our obligations in this Privacy Policy will apply to your information as transferred to the new entity.

2. Special Provisions for Donors

The information that you provide is used only to complete your donation, provide you with a donation receipt or, upon request, provide you with a donation history. With your permission, your name and contact information will be provided to the charity or charities you supported through NAAQE. If you do not wish share your name and contact information with the charity or charities you supported through NAAQE or you choose to make your donation anonymously, NAAQE will not share your name or contact information. NAAQE provides a field to include an optional dedication with the donation. NAAQE reserves the right in its sole discretion to remove text from this field before it is provided to the designated charity, for example, if NAAQE deems it inappropriate, offensive, or misrepresentative.

When you create an account with NAAQE you may choose to receive your donation records at tax time and occasional email updates on your favorite charities and The Good Card®. If you do not wish to hear from us, simply uncheck the box on the bottom of the billing page, unsubscribe from a mailing using the “unsubscribe” link, or contact us via the methods listed in the “Contact Us” section above directly.

- Add This Social Sharing: If you use the social sharing features on the Websites to inform a friend about our Websites or Services, you will be asked to provide the friend’s name and email address. NAAQE stores this information for the sole purpose of sending a one-time email and will not add your friend to our mailing list.
- The Good Card®: If you purchase a Good Card on our Websites, all of your personal information is kept confidential by NAAQE. When the card recipient uses their card to give to charity their personal information is also kept confidential. We do not share the recipient's information with the charity they choose. The recipient gets the option of letting the purchaser know they have redeemed their card.

Special note on employee giving: NAAQE provides employee giving solutions for partner companies. When NAAQE is processing donations as part of a specific employee giving campaign on the Websites or a page hosted by NAAQE, we do share some donor information (such as name, email address, donation amount), but not credit card or financial information, with the partner company to confirm that the donation was made by a legitimate employee. In these instances, the partner company has disclosed its relationship to NAAQE through its Intranet, website or employee communications prior to the donation being made.

Special note on corporate partners: NAAQE partners with other organizations and companies to enable giving across the Internet. Please be aware that donor information shared through a corporate partner site is accessible by the partner and NAAQE. NAAQE is not responsible for the privacy practices of our partners and any donor information shared through partner sites. Any such information is subject to that partner's privacy policy.

However, when donations are "Powered by NAAQE," the donor information shared with recipient charities is subject to NAAQE's Privacy Policy.

Special note on charities: Each charity has its own policies regarding privacy of donor information. Please contact the charity you contribute to directly to learn about their privacy policies. We will only pass on the information you provide us if you authorize us to do so.

What information is being shared by NAAQE with the recipient charity?

When you make a donation via a charity website that subscribes and links to a DonateNow or any Fundraising pages hosted by NAAQE, your full contact information will be shared with that charity. When you make a donation via the Websites, other NAAQE products, or a partner website that uses NAAQE's donation processing services, you may be asked what information you wish to be shared with the recipient charity(ies). You may have a choice of: full contact information, name and email address only, or no personal information (anonymous). NAAQE respects donor privacy and only shares information with donor consent. For example, when a donor has asked to remain anonymous, no information is shared with the charity – we simply confirm that a donation has been made.

How can I confirm what donor information was shared by NAAQE with the recipient charity or request corrections?

If you want to confirm information shared with a recipient charity or change your personal information, please contact our Customer Support Team, and a Support Specialist will be happy to help you. If you are looking to get in touch directly with a charity, you can find contact information in GuideStar's database.

Charitable Solicitation Disclosure

You can read our Charitable Solicitation Disclosure online Charitable Solicitation Disclosures.

Complying with Donor Advised Fund Regulations

Most donations through the NAAQE giving system are processed by the NAAQE Donor Advised Fund (“NAAQE.ORG”), a section 501(c)(3) nonprofit, donor advised fund, which will distribute your donation to the nonprofit organization that you recommended. However, some donations made through the NAAQE giving system are processed directly by the nonprofit of your choice and not by NAAQE.ORG. When your donation is processed by NAAQE.ORG, as required by the Internal Revenue Service (“IRS”), NAAQE.ORG has exclusive legal control over the donations to our donor-advised fund. All donations are final and may not be refunded. In the event that a charity you have recommended does not satisfy NAAQE.ORG criteria for receiving donations (e.g., it has been classified by the IRS as a disqualified supporting organization, it cannot or does not accept donations, is not recognized by the IRS as a section 501(c)(3) public charity, or is not in good standing with federal and state regulators), NAAQE.ORG will select an alternate charity to receive your donation funds.

Cookies

NAAQE uses “session cookies” while a visitor is making a donation via NAAQE hypertext links, sometimes referred to as donation buttons. “Cookies” are bits of information that are stored by your browser on your hard drive. We use “session cookies” to help us verify a donor’s identity as they move from one donation page to the next. Information collected by these session cookies is not linked to personal identifiers.

3. Special Provisions for Nonprofits, Customers, and Potential Customers

You may choose to register to receive additional information or Services from us. When you register, we request personal information about you such as your name, email address and/or telephone number, and we may ask for other information to enable us to provide a more relevant, personalized service to you. The information you provide may be stored in our databases. We endeavor to limit our requests for personal information to information we believe is minimally necessary to achieve our stated collection purposes. We may also supplement your profile information with publicly available data, such as zip codes and other demographic information.

We also collect payment information so that we can process one-time and/or recurring fees and to carefully screen organizations for our subscription services to ensure that their programmatic work meets the scope of our vision statement. Applicants fill out an online Application Form, which our customer service staff reviews. We may contact an applicant to verify information. The one-time and recurring fees are processed through a credit card processing company. Nonprofit customers can log into their password protected “My Account” section to update any personal information.

NAAQE offers its own free e-Newsletter that it sends out to nonprofit customers and other interested individuals that includes online fundraising and marketing advice and training opportunities. Subscribers may choose to unsubscribe at any time and unsubscribe information is located at the bottom of each e-Newsletter. Individuals who donate to nonprofits through the NAAQE Donate Now or other Fundraising page service are not subscribed to this e-Newsletter.

When you download any of our content, such as e-Guides, or register for one of our webinars, we collect your personal and organizational information such as: name, address, email address, phone number, etc. Webinar registration information is collected through an event registration service provider who shares the information with NAAQE, but that service provider is not permitted by us to retain, share, store, or use personal information for any secondary purposes. Subscribers may choose to unsubscribe at any time and unsubscribe information is located at the bottom of each e-Newsletter or email communication.

Cookies

For our nonprofit customers, we use “session cookies” and “persistent cookies” in addition to our other processes for verifying personal information, so that we can provide secure access to account and donor information. Information collected by these session cookies is not linked to personal identifiers.
